

Commencement of Sma Professional Diploma in Security Management

SMa School of Management started the first Professional Diploma in Security Management class on the 8th May 06 with a total of 25 students enrolled into the programme. Sma Professional Diploma in Security Management is offered in collaboration with Edith Cowan University, the only University in Asia Pacific region that has its own Security Science Research and Test Laboratory.

The Professional Diploma in Security Management is well attended by professional security personnel that include security officers, risk managers, corporate managers, departmental security supervisors, professional security consultants who are required to conduct security surveys and risk assessment, and investigative work in corporate environment. The course aims to provide students with the relevant knowledge and skills in security risk management, facilities management, law and ethics, security principles, and key security technology essential for career advancement in government security, professional security, strategic facilities security, retail security, financial institutions security, corporate security, and major security organizations.

Professor Clifton Smith (ECU) and Associate Professor Ho Peng Kee, Singaporean Senior Minister of State for Law and Home Affairs

"This programme will provide a strong platform for security professionals to expand their knowledge base with a high degree of time flexibility," said Professor Clifton Smith, Associate Professor of Security Science, Edith Cowan University. "Such a commitment to staff development is critical, given our rapid focus on world wide security"
